The village of Bow Brickhill Essential Information - January 2018

"There stand the three Brickhills, all in a row, Great Brickhill, Little Brickhill, and Brickhill with the Bow."

The village is mentioned in the Domesday Book, Brichelle combining the Norman spelling of 'bryk', a British word for 'hill top' and 'hulle' the Anglo Saxon word 'hill'. A twelfth century association with the Boel family gave us the Old English name: Bolle Brichelle. Although outside the original designated area for the new city, Bow Brickhill is now within the boundary of the unitary authority of Milton Keynes Council.
